Story of Hitler's Last Hours Before Suicide Bared

LEADER'S DOOM DESCRIBED BY WOMAN PILOT

Army Gives Out Secret Report: Says Fuehrer Slipped in Final Days.

By The Associated Press

OBERURSEL, GERMANY, Dec. 5—Capt. Hanna Reitsch, German aviatrix who flew the last Nazi plane out of Berlin, has told U. S. counter intelligence investigators the missing Martin Bormann joined in a death pact with Hitler a few hours before the German capital fell.

The blond, 33-year-old pilot gave a graphic description of the final hours of Hitler and his companions in a Reichchancellery bunkar, but said she left upon the fuehrer's orders before suicides were carried out.

The army took her story off the secret list today commenting it was probably as accurate a description as will be obtained of those last days."

Tried in Absentia

Bormann, aide to Hitler, chief of the Nazi S. A. (Storm Troops) and head of the volkssturm, the people's militia called to action in the final weeks of the war, is being tried in absentia by the international military tribunal at Nuernberg for war crimes.

As Russian shells burst overhead, Capt. Reitsch said, Hitler berated Goering, Himmler and others as traitors while going through the motions of directing a phantom rescue army that had been wiped out days before.

She reported further:

Goebbels, surrounded by his wife and six children, launched into bursts of oratory with all the mannerisms of a ham actor. Eva Braun became disgustingly dramatic. Blank-faced Bormann kept at his desk, writing a historical record of the finish of Naziism.

As the intensity of the Russian barraze increased, the shaking bunker, on the verge of collapse, rang for repeated suicide rehearsals. S. S. guards, charged with seeing the bodies were destroyed, stood by.

Answered Hitler Plea

Capt. Reitsch, who claims the world's glider record and once flew in a V-One bomb as test pilot, said she flew into Berlin April 26, 1945, with Lt. Gen. Ritter von Greim, who had received a frantic call from Hitler after Goering reportedly had attempted to take over as fuehrer. Greim was wounded when Russian planes jumped them.

Her story, as told through an American interrogation officer:

First to meet them was Mrs. Goebbels, who fell upon Reitsch with tears and kisses * * * Hitler came into Greim's sick room with tears showing deep gratitude for Greim's coming.

Hitler asked, 'do you know why I have called you? Because Goering has betrayed me and has contacted both me and the Reich. Behind my back he has established connection with the enemy. His action was a act of cowardice. And against Himmler he has gone to save Berchtesgaden * * * I will not rule in my place.'

Hitler shouted, 'Nothing has remained to me. No allegiances and no "honor" lived up to. All commitments that I have made, betrayals that I have experienced, and now this ...'

Gave Her Poison

Then Hitler came to her and said, 'Hanna, you belong to me. You will die with me, each of us a vial of poison such as I handed her one for Greim.

'I only wish that even one of the Russians alive, so that our bodies to be burned,' said Hitler.

He told her how he was ordering the army of a General ... to bring up from the south, to throw the Russians back. Later ... Wenck's forces had ... days before.

SCHOOLS' BOND SALE $100,019

Pupils Go Far Past Goal in Their Victory Loan Campaign.

Marion puplic and parochial schools sold Victory bonds in ths amount of $100,019.25 in a campaign which ended yesterday.

The final report on the school campaign was made today by Cecil W. Gabler, principal of Vernon Junior High school and head of the drive.

Far Over Goal

Sufficient bonds were sold to equip 33 hospital units for wounded servicemen. The schools went far over their goal of 20 units. Each unit costs $3,000.

Because some schools sold enough bonds for one or more units but not enough for an additional one only 28 units will bear plaques inscribed with names of Marion schools.

Report of Schools

Schools selling one or more full units and the number of units on which their names will appear follow:

Forest Lawn, one; Mark Street, two; Pearl Street, five; Oak Street, one; George Washington, two; Greenwood, four; St. Mary, six; Harding High school, three; and Vernon Junior High school, four.

Yesterday's followup by boys and girls of the junior high schools to the citywide canvass by elementary pupils closed the school drive. Bonds will be delivered by the pupils when they have been written by Marion banks.

MEDICAL ACADEMY ELECTS DR. MORGAN

Annual Meeting of Group Held at City Hospital.

Dr. Richard L. Morgan was chosen president at the annual meeting of the Marion Academy of Medicine last night at the City hospital. He will succeed Dr. John A. McNamara.

Elected with Dr. Morgan were Dr. Miltoh A. Axthelm, who recently returned from overseas service, vice president, and Dr. A. E. Morrison, secretary-treasurer. The following were named by Dr. Morgan to serve as a program committee for the coming year: Dr. William Pennington, chairman, Dr. R. T. Gray of Prospect, and Dr. R. L. Gettman. Dr. McNamara presided for the meeting.

The next meeting will be held the second Tuesday in January.

U. S. TO FEED GERMANY

By The Associated Press

STUTTGART, Germany, Dec. 5—The United States intends to move enough food into Germany to assure an average ration of 1,550 calories for everyone, Lt. Gen. Lucius C. Clay, American military governor for Germany, said yesterday. Clay told a meeting of the German officials in the American zone the cost will be paid for "when Germany is able to pay."

To date 7,869 bonds have been written in the Victory Loan campaign.

NEW TIRE PROSPECTS LOOKING UP FOR U. S.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5—Tire prospects are looking up.

The first new casings to be released to civilians by the Army and Navy—about 400,000 of them—will reach the market in about a month.

And these, which bolster hopes for an end to rationing around New Year's, will be followed by surplus offerings of auto, truck and tractor tires at a "sizeable rate" for some time.

This disclosure by a spokesman for the consumer goods division of War Assets Corp. followed announcement the government is stepping out of the rubber-from-alcohol business because lower-cost petroleum plants can meet the national demand for synthetic rubber.

The three big plants erected at a cost of $117,000,000 to use grain alcohol for synthetic rubber making are being closed immediately on orders of the Reconstruction Finance Corp.

Whether RFC's decision would touch off another alcohol-vs.-oil controversy remained to be seen. Farm interests opposed curtailment of the grain-alcohol operations.

Recent new estimates that 300,000 tons of natural rubber will reach the United States from liberated and other areas in the next year made it unlikely, however, the alcohol plants would see use again.

They are to be placed in "standby" condition, ready to resume production in an emergency, said G. B. Hadlock, associate director of the Office of Rubber Reserve, an RFC subsidiary which supervises synthetic rubber production.

The alcohol plants are located at Institute, W. Va.; Kobuta, Pa., and Louisville, Ky.

OWU Rents Trailers To House War Vets

Union's Pact At Chrysler Plant Ended

New Trouble Arises as Deadlock Persists in Strike at GM.

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Dec. 5—While a deadlock persisted today in the strike of General Motors employes, negotiations between the CIO United Automobile Workers and Chrysler Corp. on wage demands were broken off and the working contract was terminated.

Robert W. Conder, Chrysler director of labor relations, said the UAW-CIO had rejected a company offer to extend the contract for a year, and that the company declined a union request that it be extended for six weeks.

No interruption of Chrysler operations was expected to result from the contract termination.

Conder said the union had made no offer on wages other than its original demand for a 30 per cent increase, and had rejected a company proposal that new rates "reflect the same percentage increase over the period prior to the Little Steel Formula as the bureau of labor statistics shows living costs increased since then."

Resumption of negotiations between CIO Auto Workers and General Motors on the company's complaint of illegal picketing activity was postponed today at the request of the union.

Walter P. Reuther, United Automobile Workers (CIO) vice-president, announced the postponement of the conference, scheduled for this afternoon, saying he had been called out of the city and would be unable to participate. Reuther would not disclose his destination or the reason for his departure.

Additional moves to intensify the UAW-CIO strike which has idled more than 200,000 GM employes came today as Ford Local 600, the nation's largest local union, announced plans for motorized picket column at General Motors plants here Saturday.

Reuther joined labor's attack on Mr. Truman for intervening in the General Motors strike when he declared in Detroit last night "we need collective bargaining, not new laws."

"Why doesn't Mr. Truman enforce the one (the National Labor Relations act) on the books now?" the UAW leader asked at a rally of 500 unionists who booed at the mention of the President's name.

Strikes to Decide

Reuther reiterated that the final decision on Mr. Truman's appeal for an immediate return to work pending a report by the fact-finding board would be left to the

BRITISH PLAN NOT APPROVED BY ROOSEVELT

Records at Pearl Harbor Quiz Show No Action on Joint Defense.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5—Congressional investigators learned today the late President Roosevelt declined to approve on June 7, 1941, a British-American plan for joint military operations in the event the United States became involved in war.

Records submitted to the senate-house committee investigating the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941, showed, however, that Mr. Roosevelt's military aide, Maj. Gen. E. M. Watson, told war department officials that "in case of war, the papers would be returned to the President for his approval."

They also showed that on Aug. 29, 1941, Mr. Roosevelt approved a joint Canadian-United States basic defense plan.

William D. Mitchell, committee council, read the records in the course of questioning Lt. Gen. Leonard T. Gerow, former head of the Army's War plans division, about military staff conferences held with the British before the Pearl Harbor attack.

Tells of Parleys

Gerow told of conferences in Singapore and Washington in 1941 when military leaders of the two nations agreed on joint plans of operation, contingent upon American involvement in the war.

Gerow said the plans drafted at Singapore, widely known as the ABCD (American, British, China, Dutch) plan, were preliminary and never received formal approval from anyone in Washington.

Mitchell read a June 2, 1941 letter from Henry L. Stimson, then secretary of war, and the late Frank Knox, then secretary of the Navy. Addressed to President Roosevelt, it said Stimson and Knox had approved a joint Army and Navy basic war plan—"Rainbow No. 5"—prepared by a joint board and recommended Mr. Roosevelt's approval. The letter added:

"Joint Army and Navy basic war plan—Rainbow No. 5 x x x provides for initial dispositions and operations of United States forces, should the United States associate in war with the democracies against the totalitarian forces. It constitutes the basic di-

37th Buckeye Division Begins to Arrive in U. S.

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 5—More than 1,000 hard-slugging members of the 148th regiment of the famed 37th Infantry division—the Buckeyes—were at nearby Camp Anza today, awaiting redistribution to separaton centers near their homes.

Ninety-four officers and 1,314 enlisted men, including about 300 tankmen of the 706th battalion, 77th division, arrived at San Pedro last night aboard the Dutch transport S. S. Weltevreden after a three-week trip from the Philippines.

Built around a nucleus of 9,000 Ohio National guardsmen, the Buckeye division fought bitter, three-year campaigns through New Georgia, Bougainville, Northern Luzon and Manila. About 160 Ohioans, including Lt. Col. James B. Gall, Hillsboro, the 148th regiment's executive officer, were among the arrivals — most of whom were stateside for the first time since 1942.

Makeup Changed

With the campaigns taking a heavy toll, the makeup of the division and the regiment came to include many men from states other than Ohio.

Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beightler, commanding the 37th, and others of the division command are due Dec. 12 in San Francisco aboard the U. S. S. General Mitchell.

Ohio and Indiana personnel of the 149th regiment are slated to leave tomorrow for Camp Atterbury, Ind., where they will be separated from the Army.

Weltevreden left San Fernando, Lingayen Gulf, Nov. 16. Highlight of the trip, said Col. Gall, was the Thanksgiving dinner, with turkey and "all the trimmings."

Gall, 35, a member of the original National Guard unit which was mustered up Oct. 15, 1940, said he plans to return to construction engineering, but first he wants "nothing but to romp with my boy, Robert, ten."

His wife, Leota and son are at Hillsboro. Gall is top point man of the arrivals with 144 points.

Second high man is Capt. Morgan D. Griffiths, 27, of Copley. He is married and the father of a girl, three, whom he never has seen. He has 136 points.

Got Double Dose

Capt. Marcus Elmas, 33, is anxious to "get back to two kids—two and eight—in Findlay." Elmas served three years in Europe and was transferred to the 37th divsion only two months ago.

Obviously popular with the enlisted men was First Lt. Dale E. Prentice, 25, Youngstown, who won promotion from the ranks for leading a platoon into Manila. He declined to talk heroics. "After five years, I'm just going to four months with my wife and daughter, 3," said Prentice. "Then I might go back to my old job of machine operator in a rubber plant.

When the transport docked, officers went ashore first to good-natured ribbing by men: "Ya gotta work for a living now—Let's stand aside and let the gentlemen off, etc." A swing band from Camp Ross got an enthusiastic reception and brought shouts for "boogie woogie." A girl reporter was greeted with "Hello, Twinkletoes," and wolf whistles.

Units of the 148th represented were F. G. H. Service, Headquarters companies and two Headquarters battalions.

Crosby To Sing Special Program for Sister Kenny

To boost the Sister Kenny Foundation drive, in which Marion and surrounding counties now are participating, Bing Crosby will present a special Christmas radio program at 8 p. m. tonight. The program will be on the Mutual Network.

A nationwide drive now is in progress to raise funds for the Foundation, named in honor of Sister Kenny, Australian nurse famous for work in behalf of infantile paralysis sufferers.

Crosby's songs will include "White Christmas," "Silent Night," "It's Been a Long, Long Time," "Symphonie," and "Along the Navajo Trail."

Appearing with Crosby will be Patricia Munsel, brilliant young Metropolitan Opera star, and two nationally famous orchestras.

BLAZE DESTROYS 7-ROOM HOUSE

Residence at Ours Market Burns to Ground.

A seven-room frame house located to the rear of Ours Farm Market at Routes 4 and 23 just north of Marion caught fire and burned to the ground yesterday at 11:28 a. m., resulting in an estimated loss of $2,500, Chief Owen A. Sifritt reported.

The occupants of the house, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Ours, were eating lunch when they investigated a noise outside, and found the roof of the house ablaze. The fire was believed to be caused by a spark grom the chimney which ignited the roof. Firemen were able to save some of the furniture. The loss was partially covered by insurance.

The dwelling was owned by Mrs. Fannie Ours of East Fairground street. The roadside market, located about 60 feet in front of the house was undamaged.

Firemen in the quad truck from Central station responded to the alarm but they were unable to quell the blaze because of the lack of water in that vicinity. The fire truck from Scioto Ordnance plant arrived and the two companies were able finally to connect a pump at a ditch just north of the Pennsylvania railroad. The stream of water from that source was responsible for the other adjacent frame constructions being saved, firemen said.

SAYS ATCHESON SOUGHT TO GET ARMS TO REDS

Ex-Ambassador Acouses "Career Man" in Testimony Before Senate Group.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5—Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley charged today a career diplomat he left in charge of the embassy at Chungking sought to "destroy" the Chinese Nationalist government by getting lend-lease arms for the Chinese Communists.

He said the official was George Atcheson Jr., counselor at the Chungking embassy. Hurley added the arms were not given the Communists, and that Atcheson later was recalled from China.

Hurley testified the Atcheson incident occurred after he had left China on a trip to Washington. He said Atcheson wrote a letter to the secretary of state advocating furnishing lend-lease arms and equipment to the Communist forces, and claiming he had the support of every official member of the American embassy in that recommendation.

Hurley testified earlier a career diplomat assigned to Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell in China had proposed in October 1944 that the government of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek be allowed to collapse.

The former ambassador to China told the senate foreign relations committee the diplomat was John S. Service. He said he was unable to fire Service at the time the proposal was made because Service was under Stilwell, then the American commander in China.

Later Stilwell was removed from China by President Roosevelt and Service was transferred to Hurley's embassy staff. He ranked as second secretary until he was sent home. He is now on duty under General Douglas MacArthur in Tokyo.

Outlines Issue

Hurley made the assertions about Service and his connection with "Vinegar Joe" Stilwell in opening testimony before the committee. He said the central issue was what he called the "defeat" of American policy in China by career diplomats of the state department.

But at another point he said American policy actually was not entirely defeated but only "to some extent." He declared that in line with that policy he had succeeded in sustaining China as an ally, sustaining the government of Chiang Kai-shek, keeping the Chinese army in the war and maintaining harmonious Chinese-American relations.

Chairman Connally (D-Tex) of the committee said to Hurley, "You say you succeeded in all these enterprises so these men in the state department didn't defeat your purpose in China during the war?"

Shouts Reply

"On the 30th day of October, 1944," he said, "John S. Service sent in a report to the state department. I believe it was his report No. 40. It was a general statement of policy proposing to let the government that I was sent over there to sustain fail—and that report was circulated among the Communists."

The ex-ambassador then proposed to submit to the committee a list of documents he wanted introduced as evidence from state department files. He said earlier they were of great importance to the foreign policy of the United States.

Connally said that the com-

Murray, Old Truman Ally, Scores President's Plan

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 5—Philip Murray, one of the strongest backers of Harry S. Truman in the political campaign of 1944, has broken sharply with him over legislation the President proposed to end labor strife.

In a bitter radio address, CIO President Murray last night accused the administration of "abject cowardice" and declared "the design" of laws proposed by Truman "is to weaken and ultimately destroy labor union organizations."

Wants Pay Restored

Answering President Truman's pleas that workers end strikes and refrain from calling further strikes, Murray declared:

"Our objective is to restore the huge cut in the national pay envelope. Unless we do, clearly America faces bad times. If the workers do not have the purchasing power to buy the goods, the wheels of industry cannot keep turning."

Murray asserted large companies—citing the U. S. Steel Corp. and General Motors Corp.—had flatly refused pay increases and had refused government requests to resume negotiations with the unions.

"Confronted with this situation, American labor, in self-protection and in the interest of the entire nation, have turned to their right to strike," said Murray.

Earlier in the day, Murray wired the White House that the Truman proposals "will be brought to the attention of the (steel-workers) wage policy committee Tuesday, Dec. 11." The committee will consider further action on the recent steelworkers' NLRB ballot, which the union approved, calling a strike to back up a $2 a day wage demand.

Quotes Authority

Murray, in his radio address, quoted the Office of War Mobilization as having reported "American industry can raise wages and salaries 24 per cent and still earn twice as much take home profits as it did before the war."

"American industry has been appeased with ever greater opportunities for increased profits at the expense of the American people.

"Why did not the secretary of labor or the President endeavor to bring the General Motors Corp. or the United States Steel Corp. into collective bargaining conferences with the unions?"

Murray's talk followed a conference with topflight CIO leaders, including President R. J. Thomas who is to be Murray's spokesman at an informal White House conference today. He said President Truman's proposals will be submitted to the UAW policy committee Saturday in Detroit.

Boy Takes Groceries, Purse, in Street Snatch

Judy Anderson, 9, daughter of Donald M. Anderson of 680 Bellefontaine avenue, reported to the police that a boy about 12 years old grabbed a bag containing groceries and a change purse with $1.50 in it from her arms while she was standing on Woodrow avenue Tuesday afternoon. The boy fled down a nearby alley.

P M BOARD APPROVES MERGER WITH C. & O.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Dec. 5—A proposed merger with the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad on the basis of an exchange of stock today had the unanimous approval of the board of directors of the Pere Marquette Railway Co.

Pere Marquette directors yesterday approved a proposal issued last summer by C. & O. directors for merger of the two railroads and said the offer soon would be submitted to stockholders for their consideration.

Disposal of C. & O. holdings in the Wheeling & Lake Erie Railway Co. also was announced yesterday by directors of the Nickel Plate road who authorized purchase of 78,145 shares of stock which increased the firm's ownership of the W. & L. E. to 47 per cent.

The Nickel Plate also took a one year's option on the C. & O.'s remaining 20 per cent of Wheeling stock, directors reported.

Birddog Points Out Suspect in Burglary

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Dec. 5—Pal, a birddog owned by D. A. Maish did what an good birddog would do today—sniffed, pointed, then stiffened over a pile of leaves in a field—while police flushed therefrom a suspect in the overnight robbery of the George Wiedeman Brewing Co.

Thieves broke into the brewery warehouse, stole a truckload of beer only to run it into a ditch.

Maish heard someone run through the yard of his home, telephoned police, then, arming himself with a stick and flashlight, took Pal afield. They reached the brushpile just as a trio of policemen arrived to "make the kill."

STATE BONUS URGED FOR OHIO VETERANS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 5—Secretary of State Edward J. Hummel has suggested the state government issue to veterans of World War II "certificates of appreciation" and "certain sums of money."

Hummel wants Ohio's World War II veterans to get bonuses like their fathers did before them and is seeking early legislative action on the subject.

He said he was receiving daily queries from discharged Ohioans regarding the possibility of a state bonus and was asking that the legislature consider it soon because it probably would require voters' approval of a constitutional amendment to provide the necessary funds.

After World War I, the state's voters approved an amendment providing for a bond issue of $25,000,000, amortized by a real estate tax levy, and paid out some 244,000 bonus claims averaging less than $123 each.

Col. Wade C. Christie, commissioner of soldiers claims, estimated World War I bonus payments totaled between $28,000,000 and $30,000,000, the legislature appropriating money to pay claims after original funds were exhausted.

Payment of bonuses to Ohio's approximate 890,000 veterans of World War II would require more than $150,000,000 if payments were made on the same basis as before, it was estimated.

His suggestion was made in a letter to Gov. Lausche asking that the legislature be convened in special session to consider "the matters of housing and other financial relief for discharged members of the armed forces."

He recommended also the civil service laws be amended to help war veterans obtain state jobs.

"UNBLOCK" your DIGESTIVE TRACT
And Stop Dosing Your Stomach With Soda and Alkalizers

Don't expect to get real relief from headache, sour stomach, gas and bad breath by taking soda and other alkalizers if the true cause of your trouble is constipation.

In this case, your real trouble is not in the stomach at all. But in the intestinal tract where 80% of your food is digested. And when it gets blocked it fails to digest properly.

What you want for real relief is not soda or an alkalizer—but something to "unblock" your intestinal tract. Something to clean it out effectively—help Nature get back on her feet.

Get Carter's Pills right now. Take them as directed. They gently and effectively "unblock" your digestive tract. This permits your food to move along normally. Nature's own digestive juices can then reach it. You get genuine relief that makes you feel really good again.

Get Carter's Pills at any druggist—25c. "Unblock" your intestinal tract for real relief from indigestion.

Social Affairs

THE Marion County Federation of Women's Clubs opened its evening to combine its annual Christmas party and its entertainment for the club patronesses in the recreation room at the First Presbyterian church. More than 200 members and guests attended the delightful social affairs on the federation calendar. Following the program, which included a book review by Mrs. Dewey Head of Columbus, and vocal and instrumental music by Capt. J. A. Schufle, tenor, and Mrs. Eliza Williams, pianist, there was a social hour.

Capt. Schufle, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Jean F. Lacey, sang two groups of numbers, choosing for his first the first two solo numbers of Handel's "The Messiah," "Comfort Ye My People" and "Every Valley Shall Be Exalted." The second group included "Fiocca le Neve," by Pietro Cimara and "Three Kings," by Peter Cornelius, and he responded to the applause of the audience with a light number, "When I Think Upon the Maidens." Mrs. Williams was heard in two piano numbers, "Impromptu" by Reinhold and "Clair de Lune," Debussy.

Mrs. Head, whose book reviews have been popular with Marion audiences for a period of years, gave her listeners a vivid picture of the people of Mexico and that country's relations with the United States in her review of Alice Tisdale Hobart's latest book, "The Peacock Sheds His Tail." In this novel, as in her other books, the author has the overall theme of racial understanding Mrs. Head said in the preface to her review, and expressed the opinion that the author has done nothing better than this novel. Mrs. Head, a former president of the Marion County Federation, took the opportunity to congratulate the federation on its new home and urged the members to let nothing interfere with making it a success. "In communities where there is a club home for women the women come closer together and accomplish more things in this way," she said.

Mrs. W. N. Harder, president of the federation, presided for the opening of the meeting and the program hour was in charge of Mrs. Grover C. Snyder, program chairman. The musical part of the program was arranged by Mrs. C. L. Rutherford, chairman.

A holiday setting for the party was emphasized with Yuletide decorations. On the stage where a fireside setting was arranged the fireplace was painted and the mantel was decorated with foliage and holly berries. Baskets of chrysanthemums and greenery completed the decorations.

At the far end of the room the fireplace had a snow scene as a background and was centered with Yuletide decorations with a large white Christmas bell. At either side were tall graduated silver candles tied with huge bows of red ribbon and silver leaves.

The table at which Mrs. C. W. Weber, president of Central district, and Mrs. Harder presided, was laid with a white lace cloth and centered with silver and red Yuletide motifs. Tall white tapers in low crystal holders completed the decorations.

The social hour was in charge of the social committee, Miss Ann Mereness, chairman, Mrs. E. O. Uncapher, Mrs. James Ralston, Mrs. Earl Thomas, Mrs. S. G. Rosenberg, Miss Henrietta Filiatrault, Mrs. B. H. Buettin, Mrs. Wilbur H. Symes, Miss Emma O'Brien, Mrs. T. H. Sonnanstine, Mrs. R. A. Garvin and Mrs. Carl W. Sawyer, assisted by Mrs. W. L. Alexander, Mrs. L. A. Axe, Mrs. O. V. Roby, Mrs. Travis Huffman, Mrs. William Isaly, Mrs. R. F. Terrill and Miss Geraldine Hord. Decorations were arranged by Miss Mabel Wheatley, Mrs. Delmar Hamilton, Mrs. William Kimball and Mrs. J. C. Ackerman. Patroness chairman is Mrs. Lewis Uhl, and Mrs. Charles Sechrist is co-chairman.

Mrs. Robert A. O'Connor and Miss Margaret Harlow entertained with a breakfast Sunday at Ringer's Inn for the pleasure of Mrs. Louis Rubeck, a recent bride. The table centerpiece was an arrangement of chrysanthemums in autumn shades and places were marked with favors of tiny wedding slippers. Mrs. Rubeck, who was Miss Mary O'Connor before her marriage, was presented a gift by the hostesses.

Mrs. Elwood Cowgill and Mrs. Fred L. Garvin entertained a group of girls Saturday at the Garvin home at 311 Kensington place for the pleasure of Judy Cowgill who was celebrating her seventh birthday anniversary. Games and contests were won by Linda Schwab, Jo Anne McAllister and Nancy Tower. Others present included Mary Larsen, Caralee Kidell, Virginia Jones, Rosalind Sult, Nancy Wykoff and Suzanne Graham.

Names for a Christmas exchange were drawn Monday evening when the F. C. club met at the home of Mrs. Juanita Hatch of 595 Lee street. Mrs. Hatch was named treasurer, replacing Mrs. Ethel Hess who resigned. Mrs. Edna Gruber, a guest, was enrolled as a new member. The door prize was won by Mrs. Grace A. Whittington and the mystery prize by Mrs. Mary Gilmore. Bingo was played with prizes going to Mrs. Whittington, Mrs. Myrtle Brothers, Mrs. Gilmore, Mrs. Orpha Poland, Mrs. Ethel Graff and Mrs. Ethel Hess. Special bingo prizes were awarded to Mrs. Gilmore and Mrs. Brothers. Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Graff. The next meeting will be a covered dinner at the home of Mrs. Mona George of 819 Silver street.

Mrs. J. L. Halberstein, Mrs. M. B. Smally and Mrs. E. Teitelbaum were hostesses at a 10 o'clock luncheon for the Council of Jewish Women Monday at the Temple. Miss Ruth Kleinmaier was the guest speaker. A donation of $5 was made to the Christmas Seal Fund of the Tuberculosis society. Each member was asked to bring a toy to the next card party which will be held in the near future. They will then be sent overseas to destitute children.

Mrs. Jean Trout was named chairman of a committee in charge of arrangements for the annual Christmas party of Beta Chapter of Gradale sorority at a meeting Monday night in the Federation Home.

Those to serve with her on the committee are Miss Ida Brunson, Miss Joan Austin, Miss Mary Holloway and Mrs. Helen Forry.

Miss Holloway gave a report on a recent council meeting. It was voted to purchase two bonds for the anti-tuberculosis fund.

The Ben Hur club met Monday afternoon at the Federation home on East Center street with Mrs. Leonard Thompson in charge of devotions. Mrs. Carl Mayer read a paper on "Why So Shy?" and Mrs. J. J. Francis gave a paper on "Hawks Aloft." Plans were made for the Christmas party and gift exchange to be held Dec. 17 with Mrs. H. B. Walker of 707 East Church street. The patronesses will be invited to this party. Hostess was Mrs. Bessie Saunders.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Coberly entertained members of the Week-End club with a potluck supper Sunday night at their home on Chestnut street. Paul Drollinger won the first prize for men and Mrs. Carl Lehner was awarded the floating and the first prize for the women. The next meeting will be a Christmas party Dec. 16 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Worden of 556 East Church street.

Another group of pupils will be presented next Monday, Miss Lawrence announced.

Weddings

Of interest to residents here is the wedding of Miss Arlette Toops and Thomas A. Young, son of Mrs. Lois R. Young of 411 Maple street, which took place Sunday, Dec. 2 in Goshen, Ind.

Miss Toops, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Toops of Goshen, became the bride of Mr. Young, recently discharged serviceman, at a 4 o'clock double-ring ceremony read in the Methodist church by Rev. H. R. Carson, pastor, in the presence of relatives and close friends.

Preceding the exchange of vows, a quarter-hour of organ music was played by Miss Jane Willey and Miss Julia Lotta sang "Because" by D'Hardelot.

The bride wore a pastel pink wool street length dress with black accessories and a shoulder bouquet of white rosebuds. She was attended by Miss Harriette Weaver who wore an aqua wool dress with black accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

Gene Holwerda served as best man.

The bridegroom's mother and sister, Miss Ruth Young attended.

A brief reception was held at church following the ceremony after which the couple left for a short wedding trip through Ohio.

Mrs. Young was graduated from Goshen High school with the class of 1945 and was a junior cadet nurse at the Indiana University Medical Center at Indianapolis.

Mr. Young was graduated from the Otterbein High school at Lebanon, O., with the class of 1941. He served three years with the U. S. Coast Guard and at the time of his discharge, which he received Oct. 16 at a separation center at Detroit, held the rating of seaman (1-C).

They will make their home at 311 Maple street here where Mr. Young is employed by the Universal Cooler Corporation Co.

Announcement is being made by Mrs. Opal Wyatt of North Main street of the marriage of her daughter, Delores (Peggy) Dennis, and William H. Gaede, son of Mrs. Lucy L. Gaede of Pittsburgh, Pa., recently discharged from service.

The wedding was solemnized Friday, Nov. 9, in the Christian church at Columbus, Ind., near Camp Atterbury where Mr. Gaede received his discharge. Rev. T. K. Smith read the ceremony.

The bride was attired in a brown suit with which she combined turf tan accessories. Mrs. Wyatt, her daughter's only attendant, wore a chocolate brown ensemble with white accessories. Both wore corsages of baby chrysanthemums.

After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at Gauses' restaurant. The young couple left for a visit in Indianapolis after which they were to be at home in Pittsburgh.

The bridegroom was in service overseas three years with a medical detachment and was a staff sergeant at the time of his discharge. A graduate of Schanley High school in Pittsburgh, he was enrolled two years at Colgate university as a pre-medical student. He was employed by the Westinghouse Co. before entering service. The new Mrs. Gaede was formerly a clerk at Schulte's Cigar store here.

Miss Ercelia W. Black became the bride of Richard D. Roux of New Bloomington in a ceremony Nov. 24 solemnized by Rev. Dibble of the Methodist church in Upper Sandusky.

The single ring candlelight ceremony was performed before a fern and palm banked mantel in the living room at the home of an uncle, Richard Dickason of Upper Sandusky. Mr. Dickason also gave his niece in marriage.

For her wedding, the bride chose an aqua wool gabardine suit with which she wore black accessories. In lieu of a hat she wore a halo of white rose buds in her hair. She carried a small white testament with white satin streamers and for the something old, she carried a handmade handkerchief of French lace belonging to her mother.

Following the ceremony the couple cut a three-tiered wedding cake before leaving for a short trip. A buffet supper for out-of-town guests was held following which a short program of vocal entertainment was given by E. Shoemaker, a friend of Mr. Dickason.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Roux are graduates of LaRue High school. Mr. Roux, who served with the Army Air corps since Sept. 30, 1942, received his discharge on Nov. 25. Mrs. Roux enlisted in the Navy in July of 1944 and will be released Dec. 14. They will make their home in Marion after the first of the year.

Mr. and Mrs. George C. Harper of 408 Ballentine avenue announcing the marriage of their daughter, Marjorie, to Howard F. Ward, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hartley Ward of Waterloo street.

The single ring ceremony was read Nov. 30 in the Methodist church at Greenup, Ky., by Rev. A. B. Allen. For her wedding, Miss Harper chose a street length dress of gold and brown velvet with which she wore matching accessories. Her bouquet was fashioned of baby mums and bridal wreath.

Mr. Ward is serving with the Navy. For the present Mr. and Mrs. Ward will make their home with the bride's parents.

Announcement is being made of the marriage of Miss Edith Hedstrom of Ishpeming, Mich., a nurse at Skagway, Alaska, and Master Sgt. Maurice H. Wheaton, formerly of Marion, who is stationed in Alaska. The ceremony took place Nov. 17 at 4 in the afternoon in the Presbyterian church at Skagway, and the double ring rite was read by Rev. Fredsell.

Altar decorations were tall candles and Alaska pine. Wedding marches were played by the church organist, Miss Alice Dunn, was bridesmaid and Major Richmond was best man. Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Elks lodge hall which was decorated for the occasion. Later the newly married couple left by boat for Juneau and other points in Alaska, after which they returned to Skagway to resume their duties.

The new Mrs. Wheaton is on the nursing staff of the White Pass and Yukon hospital in Skagway. She has been there since July. Sgt. Wheaton's work is connected with the White Pass and Yukon railway. He entered service three years ago last August and has been stationed in Alaska about three years. He was employed formerly with the Bell Telephone Co. in Columbus, and with the Wilson Bohannan here. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Wheaton, live at 218 S. Seffner avenue, and his wife and family live at Ishpeming.

Industrial development in Ohio has been limited by the cost of cheap fuel.

Congested Cities Try Out Stop-Gap Solutions Pending Multi-billion Dollar Building Boom

...nd of three stories on the ...critical housing shortage ...causes and temporary ...arange solutions

By BILL GLOVER
AP Newsfeatures Writer

YORK, Dec 3—Many of ...e crowded towns and ...e hunting mara for temporary ...ures to housing congestion are simply waiting—...re hoping for the day ...n independent multi-billion ...ding boom starts supplying the long-term solution ...Associated Press survey shows that although housing conditions should be pretty easy after 1947, returning servicemen and ...emnified workers, in the meantime, probably will have to keep ...ing the way they are now, by doubling up with the old folks or occupying makeshift quarters.

Planners are having a frantic ...ead day as they strive for stopgap sedatives or work out long-range schemes for controlling properly everything from the cost of individual homes to the direction of municipal development. No one has found the complete answer.

Many communities have been crossed up on their expectancy that the situation would adjust itself as migrant war workers returned whence they came.

A lot of war workers seem quite satisfied to stay put in their new surroundings.

Three Big Factors

Most public officials and real estate men believe it will take two years to work out the following factors in the housing picture

1. Labor shortages
2. Lack of building materials
3. Uncertainty concerning future government housing provisions and regulations for the building industry.

Firms reconverting from war...ucts have been delayed in ob...ining supplies and getting production moving and one big ...plumbing concern, for example, ...s due to turn out only about 10 per cent of normal. Initial production ...ds for ...Pennsylvania pipe firms ...ing orders now for delivery next September. Nails are almost unobtainable in quantity.

Labor shortages have resulted from lags in the return to manufacturing and building trades of servicemen and war-shifted workers, and from extended wage disputes locally and regionally. Chicago builders, for example, charge granting of workmen disputed ceiling scales. Cement boom...makers in Florida shut down, claiming wage increases made it impossible to sell products at profit. Often ceiling limitations Seattle ...s a shortage of building inspectors because the pay is better in architects offices.

Some large-scale real estate operators and builders have refrained from building apartments or home developments because rent ceilings, they say, make no allowance for war-inflated building and maintenance costs. Builders and real estate men in many sections say they won't get going until government restrictions are lifted or until they know regulations won't hamper construction for reasonable profit.

Money in Pockets

The Architectural Forum magazine reported that a survey showed 2,778,000 of the nation's 37,000,000 families have money ready to buy or build homes within the next three years. The Dow Service daily building reports forecast that, with facilities available, $4,900,000,000 would be spent for residential housing during the next year.

Every community in the land from Portland, Me., to Portland, Ore., with a housing headache today is full of plans for construction, but practical plans for immediate accomplishments are scarce.

New Jersey has taken the lead in a statewide effort to grope with the problem, with Governor Walter Edge urging a statewide residential building program and calling conferences of municipal officials, bankers, builders, realtors. In New York, Governor Thomas E. Dewey succeeded in having several military installations released to New York City for conversion of barracks into quarters for several thousand families. Similar relief was planned elsewhere in the state.

The Massachusetts state housing authority has held hearings on the desirability of creating a veterans bureau of housing. Under consideration at Cambridge, Mass., is a plan for city sponsorship of a program whereby citizens would invest between two and three million dollars in one-family houses for non-profit sale to veterans.

Would Use Salvage

Other suggestions include the plan of Mayor John P. Gage of Kansas City, Mo., to have unused military barracks throughout the nation moved and the materials placed on the market. Fort Wayne, Ind., Salt Lake City and Des Moines are considering asking permission to use nearby air stations or military installations for temporary building centers.

Many communities have considered various types of temporary housing from converted barracks and closed down war plants to Quonset huts and trailers.

Local zoning regulations prevented use of Quonset huts in Minneapolis, and similar reasons caused New Brunswick, N. J., city officials to prohibit Rutgers university from setting up 100 trailers for students on a spare football field. Minneapolis is getting 100 trailers, but Albany, Ga., found that sewerage problems interfered with a project to set up trailers there.

Chicago planning to set up 600 prefabricated houses for veterans is going ahead with construction of 422 row houses and plans erection of 800 apartments. Dallas veterans service workers proposed that buildings at the state fair park be used. Hickory, N. C., has moved to set up residential facilities in an erstwhile emergency polio hospital. Shenandoah, Ia., purchased 84 corn cribs from the Commodities Credit Corp. for conversion into 40 housing units. At Danbury, Conn., and at many mountain and shore resorts in New Jersey, summer houses have been opened for year-round use.

Trailers Set Up

Colleges faced with an influx of student veterans with families have rushed to alleviate housing needs. Trailer communities for students have been set up at the University of Missouri, Oklahoma University, Oklahoma A. & M., University of Minnesota, The University of California, Dartmouth, the University of Cincinnati and Massachusetts Institute of Technology have gone in for construction of temporary dormitories. Purdue trustees have approved a $1,325,000 bond issue for quarters for 200 married students.

Radio and newspaper campaigns were started in other places, and the Greenwood, S. C., Index-Journal is giving free ads to anyone who has a place to rent.

The attitude of veterans around the land was pretty well summed up by one Wyoming ex-serviceman who said:

"For three years I crawled on my belly through the mud of Germany and sweat it out in a foxhole in Czechoslovakia, through no desire of my own. I do not feel I should be forced to occupy a shack in my own home town."

(Tomorrow, Washington seeks the answer.)

A hospital bed with built-in plumbing has been designed.

Football Telecast Wins High Praise

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 3—All available critics who got the chance to watch from the fireside or other warm nook have drawn about the same consensus on about NBC's telecast of the 1945 Army-Navy game to a television network. "Great stuff," they said.

Despite relay by coaxial cable from Philadelphia to New York and by radio to Schenectady, Philadelphia being cut in direct, reception was about the best yet for such an outdoor event. What's more, the folks who thus saw the game second hand had no cold feet.

New Plan Pays Family Hospital Bill

Protects You or Entire Family for Sickness, Accident and Childbirth

Includes hospital room, surgeon fees, medicine, X-rays, etc.

Information Free

A new low-cost plan that pays cash for your hospital expenses has now been provided in a new kind of family insurance policy created by the well-known Northern Mutual Casualty Co. As this policy provides, your entire family is covered for hospitalization due to sickness, accident and childbirth.

45 Days in Hospital

According to the liberal provisions of this new plan, you get the following benefits: (1) Cash for room and board, up to forty-five days for each member of the family in the given year. (2) Cash to pay for the various hospital extra charges such as operating room fee, X-rays, anesthetic, medicines, ambulance service, etc. (3) Cash to help pay the surgeon fees. There are many other benefits which make this Northern Mutual policy the most liberal hospital protection ever devised.

No Medical Examination

No medical examination is required. And all the members of your immediate family (ages up to 65) are protected under a single policy, on which you pay one premium each month. In the case of the average family, this premium amounts to only a few cents a day.

Old Established Company

This policy is backed by an old established Company which has faithfully served Policy Holders from coast to coast for many years. As provided in this policy, you are paid cash for hospital expenses whether the disability occurs at home or at work. And you are not limited to any certain hospital. The money is paid to you. So you pick the hospital, anywhere in the U. S. or Canada. You are provided with an identification card which furnishes the hospital satisfactory evidence of your financial responsibility.

Includes Childbirth Many Extra Benefits

This liberal policy provides many other benefits impossible to list in this limited space. But any one interested can secure full and complete information by mailing the coupon below. There is no cost or obligation. Tear out this coupon now.

Ohio College Cage Season Gets Going Hot and Heavy

Bowling Green Explodes with 167 Points in Double Victory; Jap-American Sparks OWU Cagers.

By The Associated Press

Bowling Green State university's crack basketball team served notice on future opponents today that it possesses a consistently high-scoring machine again this year.

Coach Harold Anderson's Bee-Gee tossers hit the nets for a total of 167 points as they scored a double-header victory in two of six contests on last night's Ohio college cage program.

The Bee-Gees defeated Bluffton, 83 to 21, in one game of the twin bill at Bowling Green and thumped Ohio Northern, 84 to 33, in the other. Coach Anderson used better than three teams—18 players in all — in the doubleheader.

Ohio State's cagers went down to defeat in their season's opener, losing a thriller to the Wright Field Kittyhawks at Dayton. The score was 47 to 45. The game, tied at 21-21 at halftime, was close all the way, but the experience of the Kittyhawks, composed of ex-college stars, proved too much for the Bucks.

Forward Bob Bowen of the Bucks grabbed high scoring honors, dumping in 20 points on 10 field goals. Guard Warren Amling, a Buck football great, also turned in a stellar performance, holding the 'Hawks' "Dike" Eddlemen, former Illinois cage star, to three fielders and scoring 10 points himself.

In other games on the night's program, Ohio Wesleyan defeated Denison, 61 to 44, at Delaware; Capital trounced Wilmington 71 to 35 at Wilmington, and Baldwin Wallace's Yellow Jackets staged a whirlwind finish to clip the towering Akron Goodyear Wingfoots, 44 to 38, at Akron.

Freshman Bob Hayashida, a Japanese-American, sparked Ohio Wesleyan's attack with 16 points. Bob Lawrence of Newark was high for Denison with 14.

HEATH ON BLOCK

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec 5—Outfielder Jeff Heath of the Cleveland Indians definitely is on the block and may be sold or traded before the close of the current minor league meetings here, it was learned from authoritative sources today. The chief bidder for Heath, who held out half of last season before reporting to the Indians, reportedly was Chicago's White Sox.

Green Camp Loses Two to Nevada Teams

Special to The Star

GREEN CAMP—Green Camp High school basketball teams lost to Nevada High school in two practice games on the local floor last night. The varsity game was close in the first three periods, but in the last quarter Nevada made 14 points to the locals' 7. In a previous meeting Nevada won 34-17.

The Nevada Reserve team won 31 to 14.

IOWA LOOKS GOOD

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Dec. 5 — The only thing Coach "Pops" Harrison and his Iowa Hawkeyes have to fear in their forthcoming Big Ten basketball title defense apparently is the jinx that traditionally spills conference favorites. Harrison, whose cagers launch their league season against Illinois on Dec. 22, just doesn't know where to use all the rangy, classy personnel on his squad. Ohio State is strongest challenger.

AMLING ON ALL-AMERICA

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 5 -Warren Amling, Ohio State football luminary, was named to the right guard spot on the Sporting News' 1945 All-America football team yesterday. A poll of 163 scribes and sportscasters gave Amling the title. He's the Buckeye 1946 football captain and now is playing varsity basketball.

MARTY MARION'S NOT FOR SALE, SAY CARDS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 5—The $250,000 price tag that was dangling from Marty Marion around World Series time has been torn off, and "Mr. Shortstop" is not for sale, the St. Louis Cardinals told the baseball world today.

The Cards are planning no deals involving "name" players just now, even though the talent they'll have back from the armed forces alone is better than that a lot of National league clubs will field as varsity in 1946. Already St. Louis is the standout pennant favorite for next year.

Eddie Dyer, the slow-talking Texan who came out of the oil business to manage the Cardinals next season, laid all this and considerable more out on the counter for the folks to look at today at baseball's great lobby-sitting sweepstakes — the annual minor league meetings.

It was more than just chit-chat that both the Chicago Cubs and New York Giants were interested in Marion.

"Well," Dyer said flatly today, "Marion will not be sold. Before I took this job, I wrote Breadon asking him if he was going to sell Marion. He said no. Y'know, the job wouldn't have been nearly so attractive if he'd said 'yes.'"

Rees of OSU Staff Gives Talk at Football Event; Cline and Fazio on Hand

By BILL COULTER

The annual football banquet honoring the gridders from Harding and St. Mary High schools was held at the Masonic Temple last night, under the sponsorship of four Marion service clubs, the Lions, Rotary, Kiwanis and the Y's Men. Earl Andrews was master of ceremonies.

Following the dinner the group was led in singing by W. E. Orcutt. After this the principal speaker, Trevor Rees, assistant coach at Ohio State, was introduced. Mr. Rees pointed out the value of sports in the service and also emphasized the need of team work.

Mr. Rees predicted that, following the lead given by the armed services' training programs, high schools and colleges would incorporate football, basketball, volleyball, tennis, badminton and other sports into a regular course included in the curriculum of all courses. Participation in sports by a much greater number of the student body is the goal of most athletic programs, he said.

At Ohio State, he pointed out, the athletic department stressed fighting spirit and the will to win rather than the actual winning itself.

Coach George Niemi of Harding High school and Coach Dr. A. J. Wagner of St. Mary introduced managers and members of their respective squads.

Attendance was estimated at 275.

Cline and Fazio Here

Following Rees' talk, Ollie Cline star Ohio State fullback and All-American prospect, was introduced. Cline was accompanied by Chuck Fazio, graduate of Harding High in 1944 and freshman varsity tackle at Ohio State this season.

Wendell Wiant, president of the Rotary club, John Peacock, president of the Lions, Robert T. Mason, president of the Kiwanis, and William Isaly, president of the Y's Men were introduced. Others who helped make the dinner possible were E. E. Holt, superintendent of schools, Father William J. Spickerman of St. Mary, A. C. May, principal of Harding High school, Dewey Bohyer, athletic director at Harding, J. Kenneth Staats and Paul Frye.

Coach Joe Petrich introduced his Harding High gridders and the three Harding managers, Charles Brown, Dick Graham and Bill Taylor.

Coaches George Niemi, William Wiley and Ralph Simpson received recognition, as did the three junior high coaches, Mr. Kelly, Mr. Hearn and Mr. Shipman.

Irish Take Floor

Coach A. J. Wagner introduced his St. Mary squad and also his assistants, Nelson Irvin, assistant coach, Father James J. Carroll, and Ted Frericks, member of the St. Mary teaching staff, and St. Mary managers, Paul Bray, Lawrence Finnegan and Bob Pruzzo.

Mr. Rees followed by showing films of the Ohio State-Michigan football game, and other films of Ohio State games of previous years.

Gridders Are Honored at Upper Sandusky

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, O., Dec. 5 — One of the main events of the school year was held Monday evening, when the Chamber of Commerce sponsored a banquet for the Upper Sandusky High school's undefeated and untied football squad in the cafeteria at Union school building.

The members of the Band Mothers club cooked and served the banquet. Place cards were small footballs made out of paper.

C. A. Nau served as toastmaster, and introduced the principal speaker of the evening, E. M. "Mose" Hole, head of the athletic department and basketball coach at Wooster college.

Snatches of Sports

By HUGH FULLERTON Jr.
AP Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 5 — Inflation must be here .. First the Southern Association moved up a class, the Double-A leagues threaten to make it Triple-A and now the Pacific Coast league has decided to become a third major circuit—until the major league meeting next week, at least . Only logical reason for these changes we have heard advanced is the claim that the south should stand on even terms with the east (International league), the midwest (American Association) and the Pacific coast .. And does any one want to bet that the coast league wouldn't withdraw its bid for big league status if it gets that $15,000 draft price it has been after for a couple of years?... Might be settled for even less than that. Some smart baseballers claim it takes more than four million attendance to make a big league go while the PCL hasn't done much better than three million. They also say $10,000 is about as high as any one could be induced to go for a drafted player.

* * *

Observation Post

The Ohio State league is offering a personal appearance by Commissioner Happy Chandler as a prize for the club that sells the most tickets for its opening game next season—with Ohio Governor Frank J. Lausche tossed in for good measure. There still are a few die-hards hereabouts who'd say it's no great Lausche if they don't get a speech by Chandler.

* * *

Lobby Leftovers

First trade of the minor league convention involved a pitcher who won no games and lost 12 and a .212 hitter for a hurler who looked so bad when he was sold to Portland a couple of years ago that the selling club refunded the price. That's the tipoff on the kind of business they're doing.

Rumors include Phillies-Giants dicker for Vince DiMaggio, and some sort of a Phils-Pirates deal, which hasn't gone far because each club withdrew its first offer after hearing what the other would give. The Dodgers might send Luis Almo to Cincinnati for Ray Lamanne. You might say that trade was almost made.

PIN FINALS NEAR

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Dec. 5—Forty-three of the nation's front - ranking bowlers, survivors in a field of 139 in four days of competition, will roll 12 games each today to determine the finalists in the fifth annual All-Star bowling tournament for the match-game championship of 1945. Walter Ward, the Cleveland sharpshooting veteran, leads the qualifiers with 4,975 in 24 games, which puts him 45 pins ahead of his nearest rival, Chet Bukowski of Detroit.

PINMEN MAY STRIKE AGAINST PRICE RISE

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Dec. 5 — A threatened general strike of 65,000 bowlers here failed to materialize when only two of 300 scheduled leagues boycotted alleys in protest against a new league rate of 30 cents a line, with a one cent rebate, it was revealed today.

The 16-team American Legion bowling league agreed to suspend and another unnamed league was also reported to have remained idle in protest against the price rise that followed lifting of OPA ceilings.

Frank H. Mitzel, secretary of the Detroit Bowling association, pointed out that the DBA's Sunday protest resolution was not yet in the hands of Detroit's 1,400 leagues.

"If there is a general walkout of the city's bowlers" he said, "I don't imagine it will take place until later in the week."

Fireworks Pop as Pacific Loop Asks to Join Majors

Southern Association Fights Western Hopes at Annual Baseball Confab in Columbus.

By HAROLD HARRISON
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 5—The Pacific Coast league and the Southern Association provided the fireworks today as the 44th annual convention of the National Professional Baseball leagues settled down to business.

The Pacific Coast loop wanted to become a major league and the Southern Association was ready to say "no" and lead the fight against creation of a Class AAA group for the current three Class AA leagues —the American Association, the International and Pacific Coast leagues.

Clarence Rowland, president of the Pacific Coast league, emerged with the statement that his organization had resolved that the Pacific Coast league become a major league in 1946, explaining the proposal "must obtain approval of the commissioner of baseball, of the presidents of the two major leagues and the National association."

Within a few minutes the Southern Association announced it would oppose any amendment to raise the other two big minors to Class AAA. The Southern Association has voted to go from Class A-1 to Class AA and the league said it would carry its fight to the convention floor.

All of which added up to swell scrap when the delegates get down to actual work today.

Will Harridge and Ford Frick, president of the American and National leagues respectively, declined comment about the Pacific Coast league action.

Rowland said: "We hope it will go through and we hope the other major leagues will cooperate with us and make us a participant in the World Series when such things can be worked out."

Meantime the Philadelphia Phillies gave up pitcher Steven Gerk and outfielder Mayo Smith to Portland of the Pacific Coast league for pitcher Wendell Moser.

The Texas league, suspended since the war, voted to play a 154-game schedule.

The Three-I league, also suspended during the war, will open April 28 for a 126-game schedule.

State League Hires 18-Year-Old Umpire

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 5 — The Ohio State Baseball league has signed what President Farry Colley says is the youngest umpire in the history of organized baseball.

The arbiter is Henry P. Gowan of New York and is only 18.

Colley said McGowan was highly recommended by Carl Hubbell who runs the New York Giants farm system.

Co. M Command Changes

Capt. Ebert Resigns and Is Succeeded by Lt. Smith; Ebert Honored with Dinner and Gifts.

Capt. Carl F. Ebert has resigned command of Co. M, local unit of Ohio State Guard, and has been succeeded by 1st Lt. Elmer Smith, it was announced today. Capt. Ebert tendered his resignation months ago to become effective today. He has been associated with National and State Guard companies for more than 20 years. He received his commission as captain of Co. M June 23, 1942. The company was formed by Capt. Smith enlisted in the National Guard after World War I and served with it until 1926, when he resigned. He later applied for commission in the Army Officers Reserve Corps and was a member of the corps until he was commissioned first lieutenant in March Guard unit in 1942. Second Lt. Ralph Young was promoted to the rank of first lieutenant and Howard Fogle was commissioned second lieutenant.

Ebert Honored at Dinner

A surprise dinner was held last evening for Capt. Mr. Ebert with 60 members and guests attending. The dinner was held at the Sandwich Shop on North Main street following the regular meeting at the Armory. Lt. Charles D. Smith, recently returned from the Pacific area where he had been stationed with the Navy, was master of ceremonies.

The honor guest was presented a $100 Victory bond, a pen and pencil set and also a gift from members of the Co. M auxiliary. Lt. Smith made the presentation on behalf of the members and Mrs. John Spicer represented the auxiliary.

A special musical program was presented by Mrs. Goldie Swope and Miss Virginia Grover. The song, "Moonlight and Roses," was sung especially for Capt. Ebert in remembrance of the years when it was used as a marching song for the 166th Infantry of the Ohio National Guard. Also at the request of Capt. Ebert, a group of the guardsmen who are students at Harding High school sang the school song.

Inspection Postponed

The quarterly inspection scheduled for last night was postponed when Lt. Col. Charles Stump of Sidney was unable to attend.

Lt. Harmon and Walter Johnson, both former members now in the Navy, conducted an informal inspection.

Capt. Smith, who assumed command of Co. M today, announced plans for a meeting at the Armory Thursday night, when the drill schedule for the next quarter will be drawn up.

RECEIPTS IN YULE SEAL SALE $2,415

Response Reported Lagging Behind Last Year.

Receipts in the 1945 Christmas Health Seal campaign to date amount to $2,415.85, it was reported today by the Marion County Anti-Tuberculosis association, sponsors of the sale. While the response and cooperation of the public is most gratifying, the receipts are trailing the amount contributed by the corresponding date last year the sponsors state.

While Marion county's quota is higher this year—the goal is $5,500—the need for funds is also greater, the association points out. Records show that tuberculosis increases during war years, due to strain, lack of rest, overwork and other health hazards. The increase in the number of cases is being felt in Marion county as well as in other counties and states, they report.

The major portion of the funds received through the sale of the seals is used to finance early diagnosis of tubercular cases.

The seal sale will continue until Christmas. The campaign in Ohio is part of the thirty-ninth annual national Christmas Seal sale.

Goering Threat To Blast Prague Told at German Trials

By The Associated Press

NUERNBERG, Dec. 5—Hermann Goering shattered Czechoslovakia's last will to resist Hitler's war machine with the ultimatum that "half of Prague would lie in ruins from aerial bombardment within two hours," the international military tribunal was told today.

American prosecutors at the trial of Goering and 19 other Nazi leaders accused of war crimes laid before the court official German records and French and British diplomatic reports disclosing the Hitler pattern of threats, treachery and broken promises that crushed the Czechs only five months after the Munich pact led British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain to proclaim "peace in our time."

The prosecution disclosed Czechoslovakian President Emil Hacha was imperiously summoned to Berlin the day before German troops marched across the border on March 14, 1939.

Goering bullied Hacha with the bombing threat if he did not immediately "invite" German troops into his country, according to the report of French Ambassador Robert Coulondre read into the evidence.

Hungary's part in the partition of the little country was shown by a letter to Hitler from Admiral Nicholas Horthy, regent of Hungary, in which he told of plans to manufacture a "frontier incident" on March 16, 1939, as a pretext for the invasion of Ruthenia, one of the Czechoslovak provinces.

Sir David Maxwell-Fyfe listed Germany's violation of 69 treaties, agreements and assurances since Hitler came into power in 1933.

Obviously bored as the Briton started reading the dates and provisions of German promises to refrain from war, Field Marshal Keitel munched on pieces of cracker.

Union County Judge To Sit in Murder Trial

MARYSVILLE, Dec. 5—Judges Richard L. Cameron of this city and R. A. Younger of Celina have been assigned to sit with Judge Lawrence Zupp of Bellefontaine to hear evidence in the first degree murder trial of Robert I. Jackson of Bellefontaine, scheduled to open today at 9:30 a. m. in the Logan county common pleas court.

The selection of Judge Cameron and Judge Younger was announced by Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt of the state supreme court.

Judge Zupp will be the presiding jurist at the trial.

The three judge panel was requested by Jackson last Monday when he waived trial by jury.

He was indicted secretly by the September term of the Logan county grand jury for the alleged slaying of his friend, John Mundell, last June during a groundhog hunting trip.

UNION CO. MAN SUED

MARYSVILLE, Dec. 5—Grace Ellis asks $5,000 and Mildred Newton $10,000 as the result of alleged injuries sustained in an automobile accident near Somersville in 1943. Two separate cases have been filed against Victor B. Phipps of near Somersville, truck driver, who, the plaintiffs claim, swerved to the wrong side of the road and ran into their car.

FIRE IN TRUCK

Firemen from the East Mark street station responded to an alarm at 1:25 p. m. today when antifreeze in a truck owned by the H. D. Street delivery service boiled over and ignited on the hot motor. The truck was parked at 129 South Main street. No damage was reported.

TEACHER TELLS OF LIFE UNDER NAZIS

The first-hand story of the struggle of teachers to keep alive the spirit of democracy in France and other occupied and little-known tale of resisting the Germans was told by Miss Charity Goodman, general secretary of the International Federation of Teachers Associations and a member of the Teachers Union of France, Tuesday night at Central Junior High school auditorium.

The International Federation was organized in 1920 and prior to the war had 600,000 members including teachers of Europe, Central, South America, Germany and more than 30 other nations. At the beginning they were in touch with American teachers. In 1939 Mr. Dumas was to come to the United States under sponsorship of the American Federation of Teachers and was to attend Columbia university, but his plans never materialized because of the war. There were many difficulties after 1939, he said, and the result was a general resistance against the Nazi. The sacrifices made by the French educational leaders were many and difficult, and many of them were killed, he related. Teachers from other conquered lands shared the same fate, he said.

The Nazis concentrated their efforts to control teachers of the country, believing that if they could control the minds of the youth they might have a chance to make a success of the occupation, Mr. Dumas said.

Teachers of France are organized better than ever now, but there is a lack of leaders, due to the war, he stated.

Mr. Dumas came to Marion from Anderson, Ind., and left today for Delaware. He is on a speaking tour and came to Marion under sponsorship of the Marion Federation of Teachers. During the war Mr. Dumas was a captain in the artillery.

Elevator Planned For Wyandot Courthouse

UPPER SANDUSKY, Dec. 5—An elevator to be installed near the main stairway in the Wyandot county courthouse will travel from ground level through the three main floors of the building and into the large "attic" room where storage space, previously almost inaccessible, can be utilized.

An automatic, passenger controlled type car suitable for either passenger or freight service, with a one-ton capacity, was specified in the contract let by the county commissioners to R. Burton Child of Findlay. Installation is to start within the next 10 days and is to be completed by March 31, 1946.

TRUMAN SEES HOPE FOR QUICK RECOVERY

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 5—The nation's top industrialists, gathered amid labor-management deadlocks, strikes and threats of strikes, were told today by President Truman that reconversion problems are capable of orderly solution and speedy solution.

The President and Secretary of Commerce Wallace praised the wartime role of industry.

In a letter to the National Association of Manufacturers read at the opening of the "Golden Anniversary Congress of American Industry," President Truman said manufacturers together with the workers had provided the tools for victory.

Discussing reconversion, President Truman said its problems were "due to many factors, some unavoidable, perhaps, but all capable of orderly solution and speedy solution."

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

At the sound of Faith's shr protest which we knew could easily be heard in the sitting room if the door were open Mary and I whirled on my small daughter in horrified and terrified amazement

Suppose Noel had heard the reference to burning Mary's photographs!

Our actions were swift

While I put my hand lightly over Faith's lips with a whispered Hush, Darling Mummy will explain Mary shrank to the door in a soft bird-like fashion and I saw her examining it intently

A Look of Relief

But when she turned with a look of relief on her face my own panic lessened and I took my hand from Faith's lips and smiled down at her although I was conscious that in strict justice I ought to take her over my knee and apply a hair brush She had almost invited a tragedy and knowing my small daughter's little ways, I was not sure that the danger arising from her discovery would be easily averted

I knew now exactly how it had happened that she had come into the room without our suspecting her presence

Mary had not locked the door lest the sound of the clicking lock should come to [illegible] make him wonder why [illegible] the meeting of a teen-press [illegible] Mary and I should be free to make ourselves secure from interruption

Dearly Loved Pastime

No adult member of the family would have come to the room And I blamed myself severely I had created in Faith's desire to be like her daddy who had become so unexpectedly [illegible] this hour [illegible] her interfering curiosity

We of the farmhouse family knew that Faith's movements, although not [illegible] noiseless sections [illegible] She can open doors and close them without a sound while it is impossible to hear her footsteps especially when—I glanced at her bare feet Yes as usual she had removed her shoes before stealing up to us

I shot another inquiring look at the door and was relieved to find that she had waited to take off her shoes until she was safely inside the door Firmly she had not invited any undue attention to her movements before leaving the sitting room But once more I was amazed at the ease with which she had stalked us

Banished Fear

My smile at her had banished any fear she might have had at my peremptory hushing of her and all her dimples showed as she smiled engagingly at Mary and me

"I 'prised you, didn't I?" she crowed, patently preening herself upon her own cleverness

I opened my lips to reprove her but closed them again as Mary when Faith looked away from her shook her head in violent negation of the idea After all I told myself, the child had not disobeyed any mandate She had not been told to stay away from the bedroom although if I had exercised proper forethought I would have signaled Katharine to keep her in the sitting room

"Yes, darling," I said, smiling down into her eager upturned little face, "you surprise us very much"

"And that's a masterpiece of understatement," Mary said softly, and Faith turned puzzled eyes upon her

Stopped Her Tickly

"What did you say, please Cousin Mary?" she asked, and Mary caught her up and hugged her tightly

"A lot, beside my prayers" she answered, laughing, and Faith's attention was instantly diverted

"Was that a prayer?" she asked

"A kind of one," Mary answered, and then she sent a glance of appeal at me

"I hope to high Heaven you can get this situation well in hand," she said with a wry grin

YOUR HEALTH

By BERNARR MACFADDEN, M D.

Sore Fingertips

THERE are many types of work which may cause some injury to the fingertips Such injuries will occur particularly in work which involves constant friction of the fingers against a rough surface

In a paper-bag factory the wire-stitching machine operators found that a great deal of damage to the skin of the fingers occurred due to rubbing against the rough brown paper from which the bags were made

Doctor J Vincent Bates of England noted that two-thirds of the women working on the stitching machines found it necessary to have treatment of their fingers about once every two weeks Just why the other one-third did not have any difficulty has not been determined In treating these patients he used zinc oxide adhesive plasters The plasters relieved the pain and enabled the women workers to continue with their work

The adhesive plasters were kept on day and night and were removed every few days until the fingers had healed No satisfactory method could be devised to prevent the injury to the fingers

One of the workers however accidentally splashed her fingers with a solution of hydrogen peroxide She noticed that during the next few days the fingertip on which the hydrogen peroxide had been splashed did not get sore She therefore put the peroxide on all of her fingertips and re-applied it at night and during the dinner hour each day for about a week The fingers were so much better that during the second week she used the peroxide only at night and then found that the soreness disappeared and did not recur

Doctor Bates therefore used the treatment for a large number of women who were instructed to dip each fingertip into the peroxide solution three times a day It was found the considerable protection of the fingers was afforded from this treatment

It is not just clear why the peroxide helps to prevent the sore fingertips It is thought that perhaps the solution may harden the skin tissues and increase the resistance of the skin to the rubbing No ill effects have been noted from its use

Of course, [illegible] treatment requires further study before a definite statement can be made concerning its exact benefits However it would seem to be worth trying

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

W F Will you please tell me what causes excessive perspiration when I am sleeping?

Answer There are many causes of night sweats and the most common one of course is sleeping with too many covers Night sweats are often due to the presence of a chronic infection in the body Tuberculosis is a common cause but the other symptoms of this disease are more pronounced such as loss of weight, coughing and fever A thorough examination by a physician should be made to determine the cause of the trouble

AGED OHIOAN CAUGHT GUNNING FOR JUDGE

By The Associated Press

LANCASTER, O., Dec. 3—Authorities today were holding a 79-year-old former mental patient who they said packed a .32 caliber revolver into common pleas court here and said he was "gunning for the judge."

Sheriff Harley Highley, who identified the aged man as Charles Jennings of Athens, said Jennings claimed he was mistreated in jail here in 1926 and wanted to "get even."

Highley said Jennings apparently believed Judge Frank M. Acton had been serving during the time of his imprisonment.

Jennings was arrested after he entered the courtroom yesterday, leaning on a cane and demanding to see the judge. Bailiff Claude Neff became suspicious and called other authorities. He was bound over to the grand jury under $1,500 bond after declining to enter a plea to a charge of carrying a concealed weapon.

Papers found on Jennings showed he was a patient in Pennsylvania state hospital from 1932 to 1936.

Mrs. Comilda Potter Dies Near Nevada

Mrs. Comilda Potter, 58, died in her home near Nevada at noon yesterday following an illness of four months.

Born Feb. 17, 1887 at Ironton, O., she was a daughter of Kenis F. Caudill and Martha Hampton Caudill, natives of Kentucky. She was a member of the Pentecostal church in Kentucky. A resident of Nevada a year and a half, she came from Flatwoods, Ky.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Charles Clere of Vinton, O., a son, Perry Potter of Raceland, Ky., and a brother, Silas Caudill of Ironton.

Funeral services will be conducted Friday at 2 p. m. in the Carman funeral home in Raceland and burial will be in Rude cemetery at Flatwoods. Friends may call at the Boyd & Uncapher funeral home on West Columbia street until 8 tonight when the body will be sent to Kentucky.

Mexico Travel Film To Be Shown in Prospect

A technicolor motion picture, "Adventuring Travels in Old Mexico," will be shown Thursday at 8 p. m. in the Prospect High school by Miss Marguerite Kyle under the sponsorship of the Prospect Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America.

Miss Kyle, an instructor at Indianola High school in Columbus, has traveled extensively, especially through Mexico, and she has won a number of awards for amateur photographic work. The film which she will present Thursday has been praised for the life-like color and the variety of interesting subjects chosen. An admission fee will be charged.

Christmas Program at New Bloomington

A "Tom Thumb Wedding" presented by the first and second grade pupils of the New Bloomington school and "She Didn't Believe" a Christmas operetta by the students of the first through the eighth grades, will highlight the holiday program scheduled for 8 p. m. in the New Bloomington high school auditorium on Dec. 20.

Proceeds from the program will be used for the purchase of the costumes used in the performance.

Formal costumes will be used in both the dramatic offerings. The program will start at 7 p. m. with Christmas piano music by Margaret Johnson followed by a concert by the community orchestra under the leadership of Kenneth Kinzler. The Tom Thumb Wedding, presented at 8, will be followed by a candle lighting service at 8:30 during which vocal selections will be given by the high school ensemble. The operetta, "She Didn't Believe" with the participants in Christmas costumes will start at 8:45 o'clock.

Russell H. Starts, machinist's mate (2-c), USNR, 25, of Bucyrus, served, during the war, aboard the cruiser, USS Vincennes, according to news received from the fleet home town news center at Chicago, Ill. The ship stalked the Japs across more than 125,000 miles of ocean in 16 months of action. It is credited with sinking a Jap cruiser in San Bernadino straits in a most unusual surface engagement of war when in the black of the night the Jap ship was sighted and had no chance to fire a shot, so surprising was the Vincennes' attack. The task was accomplished in less than 20 minutes, the news bulletin related.

• • •

Wallace B. Uline, seaman (1-c) of 577 South Vine street served aboard the destroyer escort, USS Gendreau which is expected to arrive in San Francisco about Dec. 5 for a stay of two or three months, according to word received from the news center at Chicago. Among missions carried out during the recent war the ship participated in the invasion of Okinawa, the occupation of Hiroshima and Kure and Honshu, Japan.

• • •

Jack E. Freeman, seaman (1-c), husband of Mrs. Dorothy Porter Freeman of 275 Cass avenue, was discharged recently after 32 months of service with the U. S. Navy, according to word received from the Chicago news center. He served aboard an LST for 14 months and participated in the amphibious assault on Normandy. Before entering service he was employed by the Bowes Ice Cream Co.

PRICE GUARANTEES TO DECLINE IN 1946

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5—Government price guarantees to farmers will be generally lower next year.

This was disclosed today with release of a speech by H. B. Boyd, agriculture department price director, to a conference of state agriculture extension service officials here this week.

Boyd told the meeting that government support prices for most commodities would be at the minimum authorized by law. This, except for cotton, is 90 per cent of parity.

During the war prices of many farm products were supported—by means of government guarantees—above parity levels to encourage the greatest possible production.

Boyd said the only commodities likely to be supported above the 90 per cent level next year are sugar beets, sugar cane, flaxseed, soybeans and dried beans. The prospective need for these commodities is greater, he explained, than production a 90 per cent parity guarantee likely would bring.

Undersecretary of Agriculture J. B. Hutson told the conference he expects domestic and foreign requirements in 1946 to hold prices fairly close to present levels. He added, however, that 1946 farm production goals—calling for near wartime levels of food production—assume that between eight and 10 per cent of the output will be exported.

Whether that amount is shipped abroad will depend, he said, upon funds made available for foreign relief and extension of American credits to other countries wanting American food.

QUARREL PROVES FATAL

By The Associated Press

AMHERST, O. Dec. 5—Harry Linn, 26-year-old dairy farmer, was struck and killed by an automobile yesterday as he tried to stop his wife from driving away from their home after a domestic quarrel, Deputy Sheriff Chalmer Davidson, reported. Linn fell from the running board of his wife's car and was struck by a second auto, the deputy said.

Wyandot County Young People's Group Meets

The Youth for Christ group of Mifflin, Marseilles and Jackson townships in Wyandot county held its November meeting at the York Street Grange hall with York Street and Shiloh Christian Union Churches as hosts.

The Salem Methodist church opened the evening with a number of games. The devotions were in charge of the Marseilles Methodist young people. Janice Clinger read the Scripture, and Rev. S. W. Cantor led in prayer. A poem was then read by Louis Hougendobler.

The president, Welton Snavely, opened the business meeting.

The program was in charge of the Marseilles Presbyterian group. It was opened by a poem by Charlotte Miller. Ruby Dean and Mary Evelyn Needles, accompanied by Charlotte Miller, sang a duet. Ruby Dean gave the poem.

The Young for Christ group planned to sing in a massed choir at the Sunday school convention at Wesley Chapel Methodist church on Dec. 2.

There were 65 at the meeting. Churches represented were Salem Methodist, Marseilles Methodist, Marseilles Presbyterian, Shilo Christian Union, York Street Christian Union and Wesley Chapel Methodist. The next meeting will be held at the Marseilles Methodist church with the Marseilles Presbyterian church as host when the group meets for a "Watch Night Party" on New Year's eve.

Absolving the Public

IT IS curious how even the inquest hints that the American public somehow was responsible for the omissions, errors and oversights that compounded the tragedy at Pearl Harbor.

Perhaps it still needs to be pointed out, though newspapers have pointed out the same thing before, that no civilian in the United States, except a handful at the top of the government in Washington, had any hand in the decision that caused so large a part of the United States battle fleet to be spending a quiet and helpless Sunday morning at anchorage in Pearl Harbor on the eve of this country's first war in the Pacific. Civilians assume that the admirals who are primarily responsible for making the most of the fleet's potentialities are capable of looking after it. The public is absolved of all responsibility for fleet maneuvers.

It likewise is absolved of all responsibility for not knowing that war was imminent four years ago. While it was permitted to know that negotiations were going forward, it did not have the benefit of direct word from its responsible public officials on their own certainty that the negotiations would be fruitless. Testifying before the congressional committee reviewing the momentous happenings just before Dec. 7, 1941, former Secretary of State Hull pointed out that the late Franklin D. Roosevelt did not tell congress what was impending because he felt that a frank statement on the crisis would play into the hands of the Japanese war lords and also because public opinion in this country at the time was split between nationalism and internationalism.

It would be a convenient disposal of the whole question of responsibility to say that the American public is to blame for Pearl Harbor. The public is so enormous that no one person would be hurt, if it could be done that way. For almost four years, starting right after Pearl Harbor, a crowd of Washingtonians has dreamed of getting away with it—but out in the sticks where the attack on Pearl Harbor was a genuine surprise we're still pleading, "Not guilty."

Lady from California

OCCASIONALLY, as the world wore on in its time-honored grooves of inconsistency, persons with retentive memories have wondered how Helen Gahagan Douglas, the New Dealish lady who spoke so eloquently on the subject of the indispensable man in the presidential campaign of 1944, is getting along in the house of representatives.

Mrs. Douglas was one of the sponsors of the resolution whose announcement in the house by Representative De Lacy furnished the spark that set off the Gen. Hurley fireworks. This resolution called on the United States to abandon its ally China, without delay and let the civil war in that country take its course. It condemned in pretty strong language the policy of backing up Chiang Kai-shek, which the late Franklin D. Roosevelt sent Gen. Hurley to China to carry out.

It's strange, but Mrs. Douglas found nothing wrong with Mr. Roosevelt's foreign policy in 1944 when he was running for a fourth term in the presidency and she was running for a first term from California's 14th congressional district.

No Picket Lines

JOHN W. SNYDER, the reconversion director, has added his official voice to the steady squawk that there is a "sellers' strike" in progress. This is a smear phrase intended to convey the idea that certain persons with commodities to sell are holding them back for various reasons. Among the reasons most frequently mentioned are a plot to coerce OPA, a plot to evade excess profits taxes, a plot to coerce employes by laying them off now and hiring them back later at lower wages.

Charges like these are easy to make but hard to prove. There is no known law that a person with something to sell must sell it. There is no law to make a person sell goods at a loss or on unsatisfactory terms. There is no law that specifies the rate of selling, whether it must be fast, slow or medium. There is as much latitude in this field as there is in the field of organized labor's decisions on how hard to work and whether to work at all. No one has reported a sellers'-picket line, to restrain others of differing opinion from doing as they please.

Mr. Snyder and other officials, quick to make statements about the potential effects of a "sellers' strike" which cannot be proved to exist, have been curiously slow to find threats in the workers' strikes that have been the major factor in the public's inconvenience.

Always following a war, when the old warhorses join the cry for peace, we are somehow reminded of John L. Sullivan's later years, as a temperance orator.

A combination automobile-airplane, soon to appear, will make everything nice and confused for cops who have to decide if the charge is to be speeding or flying low.

Rats will drink the devastating new poison, 1080, in preference to plain water—which is very human of them, though 1080-proof seems high.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

Conference Ends in Complete Breakdown.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5—The labor-management conference broke down completely.

A few hours before the final report (not made to President Truman, the White House had been informed there was a good chance of agreement in favor of fact finding. The conferees were then seeking a report favoring the establishment of just what Mr. Truman later recommended to congress—the establishment of an investigating committee to determine the facts in big national wage-strike disputes.

But labor balked at this. The proposal for such a settlement had come in the beginning, from the side of management and by the final hours the conferees had reached what seemed to White House observers as a stage of childish petulance. The mere fact that management had proposed the idea was enough to defeat it in the eyes of labor.

In substance, however, it represented the mildest possible escape for labor from the predicament of unpopular strikes and the threat of real labor reform legislation from congress. It was a fur-lined way out for CIO and AFL, but they did not take it, and, indeed, conducted some sham show of resistance when Mr. Truman offered the same proposition.

Worse On Inside

If you think this is silly, the inner dealings of the conference were actually much worse. At one time CIO President Phil Murray offered a last-plan resolution, merely stating that the conference was in favor of wage increases. Not even management could oppose such a proposition, as an increase of 10 per cent already had been offered far, far back, only to be declined by labor then.

The Murray resolution did not even mention 10 per cent, but merely said "wage increase." Smite me if you will, so help me, AFL President William Green voted against the resolution and caused its defeat. When asked by Murray why AFL was voting against the wage increase resolution, Mr. Green responded that the time was wrong for such a proposition.

There may have been some reasonable substance to what Mr. Green contended, but the residue point was nevertheless clear, namely—not even AFL and CIO could agree on anything.

As far as management was concerned, it could see arising in consequence of public distaste for the strikes against public convenience, the various legislative proposals to require labor to assume a legal responsibility commensurate with its new national political power. If matters were settled that way, management naturally may also have resisted agreement.

But the salient fact behind the whole collapse was the knowledge on both sides that this is the crisis. The White House apparently is playing for a wage settlement providing a 15 or 20 per cent increase. Labor has demanded 30 per cent which its leaders do not really expect to get. Management has offered 10 per cent which labor has refused. Therefore 15 or 20 per cent is the logical medium.

Truman's Aim

My very definite information suggests that this arithmetical compromise is what is behind Mr. Truman's proposal for a fact-finding commission. In short, he expects the investigation to work toward that conclusion, and is privately working that way himself.

This, of course, would settle nothing but only alleviate the immediately pressing condition. The unions could very well strike next year for another 15, 30, 50 or 100 per cent and the year following for that is their purpose. The essence of the trouble is far beyond arithmetic.

What remains to be settled, and must be settled, is the place of the unions in the national economy. If they can direct our economics by wage demands and compromise settlements continuously over the period of coming years, they will control the national economy. They will fix prices as well as wages and thus even control profits.

An arithmetical compromise would leave their power to do so full and unimpaired. A settlement by which they would be made responsible for strikes and their power would relegate them to unpolitical unionism, the old position they formerly occupied before coming into sweeping, rich and ruthless political action.

What the situation needs is plain—some authority to take both sides by the neck and point a finger, directing their excited gazes to what is just and reasonable. The authority must deprive both sides of their power and act in the public interest. That time is coming.

Ethiopia Eyes Eritrea

Landlocked Country Seeks a Way to the Sea.

By FRED KRIEG
AP News Writer

CAIRO—Almost unheard in the mad scramble to remake the map of the world since the defeat of the Axis is the small voice of Ethiopia, first overrun by the armies of Mussolini ten years ago.

This landlocked country, nearly half again the size of Texas and with a population nearly that of New York state, has entered its formal bid for the return of Eritrea and Somaliland "to the Empire," declaring the primary consideration is the "right of access to the sea."

But already Egypt, through its Foreign Minister, Abdel Hamid Badawi Pasha, apparently referring to Egypt's demands for unification of the Nile Valley under exclusive Egyptian control, has voiced the opinion that Eritrea is essentially a complement to another state."

Ethiopia bases its claim to the territory bordering the Red Sea to migrations from Asia "in the second and first millenniums before Christ," when, it says, "the result of those migrations was the establishment of the Empire of Ethiopia which for many centuries included the territories now known as Eritrea and the various Somalilands."

Ethiopians deny that their country seeks "reparation against Italy but simply the rectification of a wrong which for 60 years has deprived Ethiopia, on the one hand, of the oldest part of the empire and, on the other, of access to the sea."

The disputed territory once partially was held by Egypt, but under a tripartite treaty with the British Egyptian garrisons were replaced by Ethiopians in 1884. Italy first entered the area under a commercial treaty in 1859, and from then on, the Ethiopians claim, followed a period of "gradual Italian encroachments" winding up with the Italian invasion of Ethiopia proper in 1935.

The Ethiopian government, in a formal memorandum to the recent Conference of Foreign Ministers in London, claims the country is "paying for the lack of access to the sea" because her commercial life is under the control of foreign powers.

The memorandum asserts that former British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, viewed "with sympathy" her aspirations for access to the sea, and that this assurance was renewed by former Prime Minister Churchill during a meeting in Cairo in February, 1945. It adds that the late President Roosevelt and former Secretary of State Hull "have formulated similar statements of attitude."

The memorandum blames the lack of a route to the sea for Ethiopia's failure to receive arms ordered from abroad "for the prosecution of the war against the Italian invader," and that instead arms had to be shipped by camel caravan from Berbera, Gulf of Aden port, "which the British government generously made available."

Mixed up in this intricate pattern of North-East Africa politics is the question of whether the Ethiopians are capable of administering the territory they so much desire. The Ethiopians emphatically say that they are, and furthermore are "fully prepared to assume all the responsibilities of such administration."

Urge Child Guidance

By International News Service

IOWA CITY, Ia.—Parents and teachers should combine forces to foresee and forestall children's behavior problems instead of waiting until trouble actually occurs, according to Prof. Ralph Ojemann of the Iowa Child Welfare Research station at the University of Iowa.

This is one method, Prof. Ojemann says by which home and school can build together.

"Home and school together, working as team, must aim to produce citizens who know the meaning of self-discipline and self-control, who live democratically everywhere and at all times," he said.

He believes that parents and teachers should meet several times annually to study child behavior.

Education can help the nation to arrive at the threshold of a better world if parents keep interested in the schools and see to it that high ideals are maintained there, he declared.

Gen. Hurley's Atomic Bomb

Can Marshall Pick Up the Pieces?

GEN. GEORGE C. MARSHALL appointment to succeed Gen. J. Patrick Hurley, whose resignation last week in protest against "double-dealing" in the State Department dropped an atomic bomb on American foreign policy, focuses the international spotlight on Chinese-American relations.

During the war, even when the late Franklin D. Roosevelt was talking of a Big Five, there was never a condition of complete accord. Gen. Hurley's assignment under Mr. Roosevelt was to keep China in the war by maintaining close relationship with the Chungking government of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek. For his performance of that assignment he now is being criticized by some of the same persons who endorsed Mr. Roosevelt's war policy. The United States recognized the Nationalist government of China, then at Nanking, in 1928. When the Japanese set up the Wang Ching-wei puppet regime there in 1940, Secretary of State Hull declared: "The government of the United States has ample reason for believing that the government (of China), with capital now at Chungking, has had and still has the allegiance and support of the great majority of the Chinese people. The government of the United States of course continues to recognize that government as the government of China."

After the Japanese attack at Pearl Harbor the government of Chiang Kai-shek promised to stand with the United States in a common front against a common enemy. On Jan. 1, 1942, China signed the Declaration of the United Nations. China rejected a Japanese peace offer, although discouraged by an American-British statement that for the time-being the war in the Pacific would have to play second fiddle.

On July 7, 1942, President Roosevelt issued a pledge that the United States would fight on in the Pacific until Japan was driven out of China and defeated. In October the United States and Great Britain relinquished their long-established extraterritorial rights in China.

ON JAN. 1, 1943, the Chinese military mission in Washington was recalled, reportedly because of disappointment with the amount of lend-lease shipments to China. Six days later President Roosevelt stated that "all the formidable obstacles to getting the battle equipment to China" would be surmounted. He renewed the pledge on Feb. 19, the day after Madame Chiang, addressing congress in person, had warned that the Chinese front was vital to Allied success in the entire war against the Axis powers.

The first Quebec conference of August 1943 in which China participated was devoted largely to the problems of gaining victory in the Far East. On their way to the Teheran conference in November, 1943, President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill stopped off at Cairo for a five-day conference with the generalissimo at Cairo. The resulting Cairo declaration pledged that all Chinese territory taken by Japan by force would be restored to China and that Japan would be made to surrender unconditionally. Some days later, congress repealed the Chinese Immigration Exclusion Act.

In 1944 the war was going badly for China, and in June, Vice President Wallace was sent to confer with Chiang. In September Donald M. Nelson went to help on economic problems.

In 1945 China took part in the San Francisco conference on the United Nations charter as one of the Big Five. In April, Gen. Hurley, who had gone to advise China in September, 1944, and had been appointed ambassador on Nov. 27, announced that the United States would not furnish arms to the Chinese "Communists," at odds with the Chungking government. On Oct. 20, 1945, John C. Vincent, who had been made head of the Office of Far Eastern Affairs in the State department a month previously, said in a speech in New York:

"Our policy toward our ally, China has been, is, and will be to encourage and assist, when we can appropriately do so, the development based on democratic principles and popular sovereignty. Our ambassador, Gen. Hurley, has worked unflaggingly for the realization of this policy."

The voyage of the steamship Savannah in 1817 from the United States to England marked the first time that mail had traveled by steam power instead of sails.

Thoughts on the Auto Strike

NOTHING seems screwier than the auto industry standing still.

* * *

Here is a business symbolizing speed and smooth operation and it is just as stationary as a grandfather's clock.

* * *

America always thought of the auto as something hitting on all eight cylinders, taking all corners at high and stopping only out of gas or new dashboard gadgets.

* * *

It had also come to associate the auto workers with non-stop stuff.

* * *

Now, abruptly it seems, and at the worst spot in the road, the plants and the workers idle as a department store escalator on Sunday.

* * *

And it is a strike that touches home. You can take away an American's food, drink and clothing but when you interfere with life, Liberty and the pursuit of week-end not dogs you hit him where it hurts.

* * *

We have been looking into the issues. It seems that the auto worker and the boss both want a green light at the same crossroads.

* * *

The workers want 30 per cent more pay for up and down hills and regardless of whether the motor is skipping.

* * *

The big issue is "take-home pay." Take-home pay used to be what the wife got after John had stopped at Gilhooley's Cafe, taken a whirl at the slot machines and paid his dues at the suit-club.

* * *

But it now means the Undiluted Week's Stipend, the Non-Fluctuating Payoff and standardized weight for pay envelopes, come rain or high water.

* * *

The automobile worker thinks some of the deluxe upholstery should go into the pay envelope.

* * *

He holds that there is no shock obsorber like a dollar bill.

* * *

But the fly in the gas tanks is that he also wants to see the company books. And he doesn't mean those catalogues.

* * *

He thinks the driver's seat should afford an unobstructed view of the company cash registers and that there should be an instrument on the dashboard to show just how much the boss is making to the gallon.

* * *

The companies contend it is only a step from that to letting the union do the bookkeeping. The business men of America are with General Motors on this respect. It has always been the American idea that no matter what a man could lose by going into business for himself, he could always retain possession of his own facts, figures, itemized memories and assorted headaches.

* * *

It looks like a war to the last fender. Will John Q. Citizen caught in between them in an old boiler that can't tell where its next skid-circuit is coming from.

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: I wonder if you would do me and the rest of the sensible people still alive a favor. Figure out some way for newspapers to get rid of the notion that Great Britain and Russia held the line against Germany because they loved the United States.

I am awful tired of being reminded every time some bright-eyed genius in Washington reaches back and gets ready to give away another billion dollars of our wealth that we owe this to our friends across the sea for holding the line against Hitler when we couldn't have fought our way out of a paper bag. Great balls of fire, they were fighting to save themselves, weren't they? Long as the money is enough grief for taxpayers to bear without having this bogus vision of Britain and Russia bleeding and dying for our sake dangled before us every whipstitch.

I will yield to no one in my admiration for the British and the Russians in the war. They took it and dished it out like champs. They were a pair of the toughest scrappers that ever operated in this part of the universe, but they did not do it for love of America. They did it to save their own skins, just like we finally got up to a sense of urgency when the Japs let us have their Sunday punch four years ago, come a few more days. Believe me, sonny, no American fought in this war to save the British, Russians, the Polynesians or anyone else. We fought to save the Americans and to keep the war from spreading inside our own borders.

Maybe it was good strategy to make sure that everybody else fighting against the same enemy had a crack at our supply dumps. Anyway it was a darned nice gesture, though we wonder sometimes whether anybody thinks so except us taxpayers whose grandchildren down to the umpsteenth generations will be paying the freight. Anyway our side won.

So now we are being advised that we should object to not getting back the guns we gave the other guys because they needed the guns to help save us—never mentioning, of course, that we helped save them. They don't owe us a thing for getting saved, but we owe them a thing we have for helping them save our skins. As far as lend-lease was concerned, you recall that what we sent them was put on the cuff and is going to be washed out, but we scraped off an air field, put up a few buildings or lost a couple of trees while we were helping them, why they got credit for that on the cuff.

No kidding, nephew, I try to believe in international good will, but if the characters in Washington who arranged for us to pick up the check for World War II and now are all set for us to pay for getting the dump cleaned and ready for World War III don't stop shoving down my neck I am going to knock over a United States mail box the next time I get close to one with my car. I can stand it up to a certain point, but lately I am turning green in the stomach. What do they think we are?

G.O.P. LEADERS DRAFT OUTLINE OF POLICY

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5—Congressional Republicans meet today in an attempt to frame a statement of principles they hope will pick up some house and senate seats next year.

What transpiring, they agree on behind closed doors in separate senate and house meetings may not be made public until the meeting of the GOP's national committee in Chicago late this week.

The party's 190 house members hope to reach an agreement before noon on a statement drafted by the Republican house steering committee in connection with the party's guiding powers in the senate.

Its contents are a carefully guarded secret. The steering committee whipped the 1,500-word statement into shape Monday.

Members who helped write it have told reporters it will be a general statement of principles supplementing and enlarging on the platform adopted by the national committee at Chicago in 1944, they said.

"There are * * * too many different opinions among our members to permit agreement on a detailed statement," one house leader said.

Senator Taft of Ohio said some senators doubted whether this was time for a statement at all.

YAMASHITA TO HEAR VERDICT ON FRIDAY

By The Associated Press

MANILA, Dec 5—A five-general U S military commission recessed to ponder the fate of Lt. Gen Tomoyuki Yamashita today after hearing final summations in which the prosecution demanded the death penalty and the defense pleaded for "American justice—acquittal."

It promised a verdict Friday

Maj Robert M Kerr, Portland, Ore., chief prosecutor, declined that in view of the aggravated nature of the crimes and in view of the measure of the crimes we recommend that the sentence, if death, be carried out by hang or"

Kerr charged that "every reasonable doubt has been shattered by devastating witnesses" against the Japanese army commander, who is accused of condoning innumerable atrocities by his troops in the Philippines

Col Harry Clarge concluding Yamashita's defense arguments, asked the commission to "exemplify the concepts and standards of American justice by returning a finding of not guilty"

Sing for Hitler

Goebbels' children, ranging in ages from three to 12, sang for their "Uncle Fuehrer" and seemed to enjoy being in "the cave

Eva Braun spent most of her time "polishing her fingernails and changing her clothes," repeating "Poor, poor Adolf, deserted by everyone, betrayed by all"

Hitler's manner and physical condition had "sunk to the lower depths He would stride about the shelter waving a road map that was fast disintegrating from the sweat of his hands, planning Wenck's campaign x x x He was like a young boy playing at war."

On the night of April 27, as the Russian bombardment reached its height, "another suicidal council was called by the fuehrer. x x x The group was hypnotized. x x x Then everyone made little speeches, swearing allegiance to the fuehrer and to Germany."

The news of Himmler's armistice bid to the Allies on April 29 came as "the greatest blow of all Hitler raged like a mad man x x x He sank into a stupor and for a time the entire bunker was silent"

With the report the Russians would launch an attack to overrun the chancellory on the morning of April 30, Hitler, with a white face went to Greim's room and slumped down on the bed

"Our only hope is Wenck" he said, "and to make his entry possible we must call up every available aircraft to cover his approach."

Hitler ordered Greim and Capt Ficitsch to make a get-away to deliver the order.

Door To Freedom Opened for India by Labor Regime

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP World Traveler

LONDON Dec 5 Britain's dominant Labor government has brought John Bull's greatest imperial problem Indian independence within a flying wedge and it looks as though it might go through

Not only has the principle of self-government for India been reaffirmed before parliament but the mother country has given the word that the vast India subcontinent will be allowed to cut loose entirely if it wants to

D. Mackenzie

Herbert Morrison, leader of the Labor majority in the house of commons, has made the categorical declaration that Britain will not impose any restrictions on the power of India to decide her future This was in response to the blunt question whether India would be permitted to withdraw from the British commonwealth if her leaders so desired

All this was straight from the shoulder and unequivocal But the Laborites didn't stop with words They announced that a non-partisan parliamentary committee will proceed to India immediately to make independent observations and report back to the government This would be in preparation for the formation of an assembly to frame an Indian constitution next spring after the provincial elections have paved the way.

Will Resist Force

The government at the same time announced that it will resist "any attempts to resolve the constitutional issue by force"

Is this new move going to achieve results, or is it going to fizzle out as have so many other programs? We get a highly interesting slant on these question from an editorial this morning in the Times of London, which for generations has been known as the Englishman's Bible This staunch defender of the British empire deals with the matter in a lengthy article which says

"A straightforward program has thrown open the door through which Indians can pass to complete and unfettered control of their own internal and external affairs"

That seems to sum the position up accurately and unemotionally

However it would be foolish to believe that there aren't many obstacles to overcome One of the greatest of these has been the failure of the various Indian political factions to resolve their own differences.

What They Want

During my last visit to India in 1942-43 I talked with numerous great Indian leaders who expressed the belief that the easiest road to success would be for the British government to establish a provisional Indian government immediately doing so arbitrarily if necessary and letting the factions iron out their differences later

One thing is certain The Indian wants to get his new provisional government going right away He wants to feel the thrill of self-rule This desire may provide the British government with guidance for implementing its fresh promise

On June 9, however Lt Col W P Scobey then secretary of the joint Army-Navy board informed Gen George C Marshall, chief of staff tha President had returned the two plans without his approval

No Evidence Found

Mitchell told committee members a check through General MacArthur in Tokyo failed to produce any evidence the Japanese had sent their prearranged "winds" message — signalling a break with the U. S—to their consuls

The "winds" message has been the subject of sharp controversy in several inquiries into the Pearl Harbor disaster.

Set Up Code

On Nov 19, 1941, the Japanese sent to their diplomatic representatives a message setting up a code under which the inclusion of certain words in the noon Tokyo radio broadcast would mean relations with Britain, the United States and Russia were "in danger" and there was likelihood ordinary communications would be broken off The consuls were instructed to burn their papers if they heard the words

In the case of the United States these words were "east wind rain."

Mitchell told the committee so far as he has been able to learn, those words were never broadcast.

Mitchell said a witness would testify that a federal communications commission monitoring station picked up, before the Pearl Harbor attack, a message "north wind cloudy" which would have meant a break with Russia.

Mitchell added that on the afternoon of Dec. 7, 1941, hours after the attack on Pearl Harbor, another station picked up the broadcast "west wind clear" which he said meant "war with England."

He asserted the first message warning of a break with Russia must have been an actual weather broadcast instead of the prearranged signal.

Referred to British

He said he regarded as genuine the message referring to British relations since it was not sent until after the attack

Mitchell told the committee he was explaining what committee counsel had found out, because he knew that Lt. Gen. Leonard T Gerow, former head of the Army war plans divisions, and Gen George C Marshall, Army chief of staff, would be questioned about it.

Gerow took the stand today and Marshall will testify tomorrow.

The committee wanted to question Gen. Gerow about a Nov 27, 1941, memorandum he gave to Gen Marshall. This reported that Henry L Stimson opposed any Army-Navy recommendation for continuance of diplomatic negotiations with the Japanese at that time.

Congress May Give Truman Plan Chance

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5 — Despite all-out opposition of the three big labor organizations, congress heard a prediction today that the house would give President Truman's fact-finding plan a chance to see what it can do.

The CIO, last of the Big Three to be heard from, lined up with the AFL and United Mine Workers against the proposal. CIO President Philip Murray described it in a radio address as a plan "to weaken and ultimately destroy labor union organizations"

But Acting Chairman Ramspeck (D-Ga) of the house labor committee said he thought the house would back Mr. Truman. He himself thought congress should give the President what he asked for "and let him try it out"

The senate is waiting for the house to act first on the President's recommendations.

Senator McKellar (D-Tenn), president pro-tem of the senate, undertook personally to shove along passage of a new $500,000,000 appropriation for the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration

Already safely through the senate, by a vote of 65 to 7, is a bill setting up the means for the United States to participate actively in the United Nations.

Ohio Senators Split

Ohio's Democratic senator, James W Huffman, voted for U. S. participation in the United Nations organization and the veteran Republican leader, Senator Robert A. Taft voted against full participation.

As passed the bill requires the President to get congressional approval only on the numbers and types of troops which could be used by UNO for any emergency.

Taft fought unsuccessfully to limit it to three months the presidential power to use "measures short of war" against nations designated by UNO He said economic sanctions could lead to war which was a matter for congress to pass upon.

Chairman Bloom of the house foreign affairs committee said he hopes his side of the Capitol would concur with the senate before the Dec 20 recess

Coming soon: new B. F. Goodrich synthetic

TIRE THAT OUTWEARS PREWAR TIRES!

It's today's best tire for your car

A "MIRACLE," some have called it! Few believed that a tire could ever be made of synthetic rubber that would actually outdistance those made of prewar natural rubber. But it is, the new B. F. Goodrich Silvertown. And here are some of the reasons for greater-than-prewar mileage.

New, better synthetic rubber

This rubber, so superior that for a long time its closely guarded military secret, was developed by B. F. Goodrich. Tires made of this rubber wear longer, run cooler. They have greater resistance to cracking—actually are more resistant to bruising and damage from accidents. But rubber is only one reason why the new B. F. Goodrich Silvertown outperforms prewar tires.

New road-level tread—stronger body

In the picture above note how the tread is flatter—puts more rubber on the road. This means that more rubber shares the wear, spreads it evenly over the whole tread surface. No more worn-out-in-the-middle treads. The result: more mileage, better traction, more skid-resistance and greater safety.

The tire body is more rugged, too. B. F. Goodrich developed a stronger cotton cord for this tire. And more cords are used than in prewar tires. Another feature that means more miles, greater safety for you.

Nearly 17 million test miles

Over 2,000 tests have been made with this new tire. Taxi fleets, state police cars, and the B. F. Goodrich test fleet have rolled up nearly 17 million miles under all kinds of driving conditions. The new B. F. Goodrich Silvertown gives longer tread wear . . . actually outdistances prewar tires.

Backed by 3 years' EXTRA synthetic tire experience

The first B. F. Goodrich tires containing synthetic rubber were sold to American motorists 18 months before Pearl Harbor. That was three full years before any other tire manufacturer . . . three years' extra synthetic rubber tire experience. This three-year head start is another reason why you can count on extra mileage . . . extra safety . . . extra value from the new B. F. Goodrich Silvertown. Supplies are still limited, of course, but we hope to have much larger quantities in the hands of more dealers within the next few months. The B. F. Goodrich Company, Akron, Ohio.
